

LADY COVENTRY WINS A POINT IN FIGHT FOR ESTATE

Lower Court's Decision That Trust Deed Was Binding
Pronounced Absurd.

NEW TRIAL IS ORDERED.

Husband Disapproved Tying
Up Lorillard Inheritance by Ante-Nuptial Contract.

Lady Edith Coventry, wife of the Hon. Henry Thomas Coventry of London, was granted a new trial to-day, upon her petition to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for permission to destroy a deed of trust to some of her property in this country made prior to her marriage to Coventry.

Some time prior to Oct. 17, 1907, Lady Coventry, who was then Mrs. Richard F. McCreery, put her property in trust, with the understanding that the trust was not to become effective until after her marriage to Coventry and his approval had been obtained to it.

It appears Coventry refused to approve of the trust after the marriage, and then Lady Coventry asked the court to destroy the deed on the ground that it had never become effective. The lower court refused to do this, on the report of a referee that the deed of trust was effective.

"So far as I know," said Justice McLaughlin, writing the opinion for the Appellate Court, "no decision is quite as curious or absurd as the judgment of the lower court in this case."

Lady Coventry is a daughter of the late Lawrence Kip. She inherited a large fortune from her grandfather, Pierre Lorillard, most of which was included in the deed of trust in question.

Passengers Start for Stuttgart to Silver Wedding of William of Wuertemberg.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, April 7.—In his dirigible balloon, the new Deutschland, Count Zeppelin, with a number of passengers, set out at 1:25 A. M. to-day for Stuttgart to greet King William II. of Wuertemberg and Queen Charlotte on the occasion to-morrow of their silver wedding anniversary.

From Stuttgart the airship will proceed to Baden-Baden and Dueseldorf. King William is an enthusiast in aerial navigation and in July, 1905, both he and the Queen took a flight with Zeppelin over Lake Constance. It was the first time in history that a reigning king and queen dared such an adventure.

FEAR PLAGUE IN CUBA.

Case in Pinar del Rio Province
Says Doctors.

HAYANA, April 7.—A light form of the bubonic plague, it is feared, has appeared in Los Palacios, in the Pinar del Rio province. Several physicians who have made analyses of the germs say the disease has marked bubonic indications. The official analysis, however, takes the opposite view, although it gives no name to the disease.

'PADDY RYAN' GETS COURT PERMIT TO THRASH CORBETT

Judge Then Looks Up Self-Named Caller's Record and Finds He Died 12 Years Ago.

A tall, stout, red-faced man with a curling white mustache, walked into the West Side police court to-day and announced in a voice that rumbled and reverberated and made everybody look up, that he wanted a warrant for James J. Corbett.

"I want to see him in a cell," said the man. "He has slandered me in every newspaper in this country, and I'm tired of it. I want the law on him."

"Who are you?" asked Magistrate Murphy.

"Paddy Ryan," was the proud answer, and the name of the once mighty representative of the old-time bare knuckle school of prize fighters, from whom John L. Sullivan won the world's championship, made the court officers stare in admiration.

"How has Corbett slandered you?" asked Magistrate Murphy when he had recovered from the surprise of receiving such a distinguished personage in court.

"He has written articles about me," said the man, "and called me a bum and a loafer and said I never was no kind of a champion. I'm living in Brewster, Mass., trying to make a living without any noise about it, but I've come all the way to New York to have the law on Corbett."

"Well, I can't issue a warrant on such a charge," said the Magistrate, "but I think I can suggest a way for you to get even. You were a pretty good fighter in your day, weren't you?"

"I was that," was the answer; "you can look at my record."

"You could have licked Corbett at his best, couldn't you?" and the ex-champion said he sure could and furthermore he could do it right now.

"Then what I would advise you to do," said Magistrate Murphy, "instead of trying to have Corbett arrested is to wait until you meet him somewhere and give him a regular old-fashioned licking like you used to give the fellows you fought with before you met Sullivan. I think that will give you more satisfaction than a warrant."

"And do you think so, indeed?" shouted the man when the Magistrate concluded. "Do you know that was what I wanted all the time, but I didn't know if 'twould be allowed. Thank Your Honor for the information and just wait till I see that Corbett—and if Your Honor thinks I can't lick him, just look up my record."

Then Mr. Ryan strode from court like a big chief on the warpath. But a few minutes later, when Magistrate Murphy looked up the record of Paddy Ryan, he found that the doughty old "Trojan giant" had died in his home in Green Island, N. Y., on Dec. 15, 1900. He breathed a sigh of relief that Corbett was safe.

AMAZONS ON LONG MARCH BRAVE MEXICAN PERILS.

Women Camp Followers Pushing Handcart Cover 150 Miles From Chihuahua to Juarez.

EL PASO, Tex., April 7.—Twenty-five "Voladoras" or women camp followers, who had become separated from their husbands in the Federal ranks arrived at Casas Grandes today. They walked from Chihuahua, one hundred and fifty miles, pushing a handcart that bore their meagre belongings. Where bridges were out they forded the streams, carrying the handcart.

Eighty-three wounded and a number of prisoners taken from the Federalists at Casas Grandes were brought into Juarez to-day. The wounded lay prone in box cars, but were well cared for by the escort, which numbered about two hundred. With the latter were two field pieces and two rapid fire guns.

Despatches from Culiacan, the capital of Sinaloa, declare two engagements have taken place near Mojolito and that a number of wounded Federalists have been taken to Culiacan in ox carts. Couriers from Agua Jito, near Mojolito, brought reports of an engagement in which it was said forty insurgents were killed by the Federal artillery.

Two trucks passed over his body. He was taken to the Norwegian Hospital, where his right arm was amputated.

It was found that he had severe internal injuries and his recovery is not expected. Lieberman was employed by Miller Brothers, No. 117 Broadway.

In Queens, Brooklyn and the Bronx taxable values were doubled in many cases. In Manhattan a normal condition prevailed, with the result that protests are fewer this year than in 1909 or 1910.

19,540 TAXPAYERS PROTEST AGAINST HIGHER VALUATION

Increase of $900,000,000 Assessments Rouse Queens,
Brooklyn and Bronx.

Nearly 20,000 property owners are to protest to the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments against the enormous increase in the valuations placed on real estate this year.

Tabulations of protests completed to-day show that actually 19,540 property owners have filed applications for reductions. This number is nearly three times as great as last year's and twice the number filed in 1908, when Mayor Low directed equalization with the then current market values.

The following table shows relative protests against valuations and total separate holdings:

	1911	1910	1911
Manhattan	4,200	2,100	96,500
Brooklyn	1,200	500	62,400
Queens	1,700	2,700	212,500
Richmond	2,400	800	123,000
Elmhurst	740	300	30,000
Total	10,240	6,400	518,400

REFeree NAMED IN DIVORCE SUIT AGAINST GATES

Former Justice Leventritt to Hear Testimony in Wife's Action for Divorce.

Former Supreme Court Justice David Leventritt was appointed to-day by Justice Greenbaum as referee to take testimony and report in the suit for a divorce brought by Mrs. Mary W. Gates against her husband, Charles G. Gates, son of "Bet a Million" Gates.

No papers were filed with the application, which was made under a mutual agreement by attorneys for the Gateses. It is stated that Mrs. Gates has named a young actress prominent in Broadway light opera productions as co-respondent. Mrs. Gates' suit is given as the reason for young Gates' last winter trip across the Continent specializing in a special train, in which railroad coaches were smashed, instead of Gates' desire to secure a New York surgeon's services for treatment of an injured knee. It is learned that Gates made an ineffectual effort to obtain a reconciliation with his wife.

Mrs. Gates was a Betty Martin of St. Louis and is the stepdaughter of a wealthy St. Louis manufacturer. The couple were married thirteen years ago. Various differences had crept up to mar the marital bliss of the young couple, it is said, owing to young Gates' multi-farious public exhibitions in sporting and particularly racing and gambling circles.
